

Qatar Charity hosts Ramadan Ghabga for sponsored 'Future's Leaders'

Qatar Charity (QC), with the support of a benefactor, hosted a Ramadan Ghabga ceremony for the sponsored 'Future's Leaders' to promote the values of solidarity and compassion in the holy month of Ramadan. The event of Ghabga, a meal served at late night, was attended by a group of media professionals, influencers, those sponsored by Qatar Charity and their families, in addition to many employees of Qatar Charity.

"This event is part of Qatar Charity's attention towards the sponsored in Qatar, through the 'Future's Leaders' program that aims to provide them with comprehensive care, develop their capabilities, sharpen their skills, and prepare an skilled, knowledgeable capable generation," said Fatima Jumah AlMohannadi, director of the Programs and Community Development department at Qatar Charity.

She added that Qatar Charity has always attached special importance to this section of the community, thanking the sponsor of the ceremony, donors, and partners.

On the sidelines of Ghabga, an entertainment program was organized for the sponsored, both male and female, and the mothers.

Mr. Radi Al-Hajri, a poet, presented a folk poem that expressed the importance of the event, praising the efforts of Qatar Charity, its programs and projects at home and abroad.

One of the 'Future's Leaders' Salim Al-Hajri presented a poem entitled 'A Letter from an Orphan to his Sponsor'.

Dignified Life

The event included a variety of activities for children. They were dressed up in the costumes of their countries, holding cards that all together read 'Let us all live a dignified life'.

A group of the sponsored also presented a 'small volunteer team operetta' in folk costumes and uniforms that symbolize the various professions.

The event also included a story on the conversation of a child with the riyal spent by a donor for charitable work and its positive impact.

Competitions

The event also comprised many different types of competitions participated in by the 'Future's Leaders', both male and female, by their mothers, media professionals and the public. At the end, prizes were presented to the winners.

Qatar Charity receives in-kind donations from GBI

Qatar Charity (QC) has recently received in-kind donations from Gulf Bridge International (GBI), as an expression of GBI's participation in the services provided through Qatar Charity to the local community.

GBI's in-kind donations included a number of laptops, telephones, and printers, which were handed over to 'Tayf', an in-kind donations project of Qatar Charity.

Mr. Ahmmed Omar al-Sherawi, head of Qatar Charity's Relationships and Community Partnerships section, thanked GBI for its contribution, appreciating its support for Qatar Charity's programs and projects. He underlined Qatar Charity's keenness to get involved all private and public bodies operating in the country in supporting humanitarian action and developmental work and carrying out the community service.

The in-kind donations come within the framework of the social responsibility of GBI, a global cloud, connectivity and content enabler that owns and operates a smart, fully managed service network.

"Technology is at the core of our business, the connectivity we deliver is the springboard for innovation in the region," said Mr. Cengiz Oztelcan, Chief Executive Officer at GBI. "However, this connectivity is useless if there are end-users who are unable to access it, we hope that with our donation we are able to further close the digital divide that still exists in the region."

It is worth mentioning that the cooperation between Qatar Charity and GBI has been going on for many years. Qatar Charity received essential food items from GIB during 2019's Ramadan for the benefit of low-income families in the country.

Qatar Charity receives in-kind donations from Apparel Group

Qatar Charity (QC) has, through its in-kind donations project 'Tayf', received in-kind donations from Apparel Group, as part of the group's social responsibility towards the community.

The in-kind donations worth QR1.5mn, provided by Apparel Group in support of Qatar Charity's 'Ramadan of Hope' drive, included large collections of men's, women's and children's clothing and shoes.

The donated items will be channeled towards charitable causes that benefit low-income families and workers inside Qatar, and the underprivileged around the world.

Mr. Ahmmed Omar al-Sherawi, head of Qatar Charity's Relationships and Community Partnerships section, praised Apparel Group's continued co-operation and generous donations in support of community services and humanitarian projects, thanking its management for taking part in and contributing to the community service.

He noted that Qatar Charity is keen to collaborate and cooperate with all, including institutions and individuals, within the country, and welcomes the cooperation of various institutions and commercial bodies, emphasizing that Qatar Charity, through such cooperation, seeks to support the community work.

Sunil Thakkar, general manager of Apparel Group, expressed his delight with Apparel Group's contributions to the community service, in cooperation with Qatar Charity. He said that the in-kind donations are part of Apparel Group's social responsibility to contribute to supporting the humanitarian efforts made by Qatar Charity to benefit various communities locally and globally.

He underlined the keenness of Apparel Group to participate in activities and projects, in cooperation with Qatar Charity, praising the efforts of Qatar Charity in implementing humanitarian and charitable projects within Qatar and across the world.

It is worth mentioning that Qatar Charity receives in-kind donations, including clothes, shoes, toys, furniture and electronic appliances from individuals and organizations for its 'Tayf' projects to benefit the people within and outside the country.
